WHO AM I?

Hi, my name's Oliver and I am currently completing an internship at Altitude Films as a PR & Social Media Assistant. Just before my internship with Altitude, I worked as a Digital Producer on a high budget reality television show for NBC and Endemol Shine called 'The Courtship' where I worked with executives and talent pitching and shooting the social media assets for the show upon it's release.

I have spent time working within production offices and post production studios as work experience before my time at university and I have a variety of experience gained on-set over the past five years. I am now looking to gain another position within a leading production company. I consider myself a people person, and totally commit to roles that I undertake. I am happy to relocate.
